ACT scores out at ACHS

by MARY FOLEY Lakeland Newspapers

The numbers are out and it looks as though ACT scores are down slightly at Antioch Community High School from last year, except in mathematics.

Some local groups are upset about this seeming overall reduction in abilities. According to Vernon Holmes, member of the local watchdog group Better Education Sensible Taxes (BEST), "This total collapse was no surprise to parents. Antioch teachers should receive an F."

However, an ACT spokesperson had some comments concerning the interpretation of the scores.

'Comparisons between classes from year to year cannot be made," explained Kelley Hayden, ACT spokesperson. "The problem with comparing classes from year to year is that you have to account for the number of students taking the test and other demographics."

The ACT test is designed for students who plan to attend college. The test is comprised of four parts: English, mathematics, reading, and science reasoning. The test is offered several times a year and used both as a measurement tool for high schools and an admission requirement to many colleges.

The analysis of the scores are broken into two segments. One category includes students who have completed the recommended college preparatory course or core students. The other segment includes students not in the college preparatory program or noncore students. The average score of both groups for ACHS students this year is 21.25. The state average is 21.2.

Pickard China's 100th fete nears

by CLAUDIA M. LENART

Lakeland Newspapers On Saturday, Oct. 2, Pickard China Inc. and the Village of Antioch will come together to celebrate the company's 100th anniversary. That celebration will include tours of the plant from 9 a.m. to noon and the changing of Corona Street to Pickard Street. While the village is proud to be home to the renowned fine china company, Pickard China has found a welcome home in Antioch.

However, Pickard's venture into Antioch was somewhat of an accident. "We came to Antioch by accident because we were getting thrown out of Chicago in the mid '30s," explained Eben C. Morgan, Jr., vice president of manufacturing and brother-in-law of Pete Pickard, president of the company.

Pickard China was founded by Wilder Austin Pickard in Edgerton, Wisc., 1893, and later moved to Chicago. Henry Austin Pickard, Pete's father, wanted to expand the company into manufacturing. Because of zoning laws, the company could not stay in its northwest Chicago studio. Moving to France was considered, but strife caused by World War II prevented that far of a move.

No relief from train whistle

After receiving several complaints from Village of Antioch residents concerning the seemingly endless train whistles, Mayor Marilyn Shineflug and Village Clerk Candi Olsen contacted local authorities to determine if some restrictions can be placed.

After surveying several local towns, contacting the railroads, the Illinois Commerce Commission, and local police departments, it has been determined that nothing can be done to stop the midnight wailing of the trains.

The village was told that it cannot prohibit trains from blowing their whistles when approaching intersections. The only thing the village could do is excuse them from blowing the whistles.

However, if an accident occurred, the village will have complete responsibility.

Furthermore, Wisconsin Central Railroad, which runs the freight trains on the line told officials that they would refuse to stop even if they were excused by the village.

"My strong feeling is that we do not want to bring that strong of a liability on the village," said Shineflug. Whistles are blown even at crossing with lights and traffic arms because some drivers will drive around the arm to cross the tracks.

The trains are required to begin blowing their whistles within 1/4 mile before the railroad crossing. The Village of Antioch has over five crossings, which pretty much makes for one long continuous sound as the trains travel through the Lakeland Newspapers

State waiting to file charges against Jensen

ISLAND LAKE-The Lake County State's Attorney is going to wait to pursue charges against suspended Island Lake Police Officer Rena Jensen, 30, in the shooting of Wauconda Firefighter James E. Johnson until after her civil hearing before the Village Police and Fire Commission. Lt. Chester Iwan, Lake County Sheriff's chief of investigations, said the State's Attorney decided to wait to bring the case before a grand jury until Oct. 6, one week after the village commission is schedule to decide her fate with the department on Sept. 30 at Island Lake Village Hall, 3720 Greenleaf Ave. "I think we have a fairly substantial amount of evidence to approve our case,"

Unit district gets mixed response

LAKE VILLA—A proposed Unit school district, K-12, covering most of Lake Villa Township, including the villages of Lindenhurst and Lake Villa has many roadblocks ahead, according to area district superintendents. One of the biggest issues is money, does the district have enough to support itself. Legally it's unsettled on whether a new district can be formed in an existing district. Complicating the proposal would be the division of assets or how the district could agreements with the districts they will be taking students from.

Vowing not to be taken, man takes life after rape

by TINA L. SWIECH Lakeland Newspapers

A Round Lake Beach man who told police he "wouldn't be taken alive," held true to his gangster-style rhetoric when he took two 22-caliber automatic revolvers and shot himself dead.

Stephen R. Seger, 26, of 817 Buena Vista Dr., was a suspect in an unlawful restraint and criminal sexual assault investigation and was being investigated by Palatine police for a rape he allegedly committed on Sept. 18 in Palatine, in the 1400 block of Smith St., according to reports. Seger allegedly held his victim for 18 hours.

Seger could not be located by police that report they traveled from Palatine to Round Lake to investigate the crime, Sept. 20. They were told however, by relatives of the alleged rapist, that "he spoke of suicide and vowed not to be taken alive," according to Deputy Chief Jack McGregor of Palatine.

Round Lake Beach police, assisted the Lake County Sheriff's police in the sexual assault case which was reported by a female Palatine resident who told police she knew the offender, Seger.

At 5:30 p.m. Sept. 21, the Round Lake Beach police went with the county sheriff's police to the home of the offender, in response to a teletyped report from Palatine police. Palatine described Seger "as being armed and dangerous and had spoken of suicide and having a shootout with police," according to Round Lake Beach Police.

Lake county officers and Round Lake Beach officers spoke with Seger's brother, who has remained nameless in police records, and "while attempting the contact (with the offender), Seger took his own life," according to reports.

Police found two 22-caliber semi-automatic handguns which were recovered next to Seger's body, Round Lake Beach police said.

The Lake County coroner's office Wednesday told police Seger died as a result to two gunshot wounds to the head he sustained, Sept. 21.

Forest Preserve mails out brochure on referendum

by CLAUDIA M. LENART Lakeland Newspapers

Some 145,000 Lake County households will soon receive a new brochure on the Lake County Forest Preserve bond referendum.

The brochure was designed by the forest preserve for use with its speaker's bureau and it will be mailed to every registered voter household in the county.

"The brochure provides a summary of what the referendum will mean to Lake County voters in terms of land acquisition, what kind of improvements and what the bond issue will cost," said Andrew Kimmel, director of environmental education and public affairs at the forest preserve.

Homeowners' costs for the referendum are outlined in a chart. For instance, a resident whose home is valued at $150,000 would pay $6.40 per year if the referendum passed.

The brochure also includes a map showing the location of forest preserve projects. It shows various ways the bond issue would help preserve wildlife habitats, trail and greenway corridors, wetlands, prairies and forests, and provide flood control, public access and recreation opportunities.

Kimmel said $55,000 was budgeted for referendum educational materials, and costs for the production and mailing of the brochure won't exceed that amount.

The brochure will be mailed in mid-October. Residents interested in obtaining a copy of the brochure now, may call 367-6640 or pick one up at the Forest Preserve office in Libertyville or at other preserve sites.

The brochure and forest preserve employees will be available to educate voters about the referendum. However, the brochure and staff cannot tell voters how Urging a positive vote for the referendum will be the Friends of the Forest Preserve. The Friends will hold the official kick-off to the forest preserve referendum campaign at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Sept. 27, at the Friends campaign office, 432 Peterson Rd., Libertyville. Interested residents are invited.

SAVE YOUR FAMILY TIME AND MONEY

Do you know what "probate" is? It is the court process by which debts are paid and assets are distributed to heirs.

In Illinois, probate is required when the assets total over $50,000. The probate process can be quite costly, reducing the amount of assets that heirs receive. Attorney's fees, court costs and executor's fees can reduce assets that go to the heirs by as much as 10%. There is also a time delay, because the minimum amount of time that an estate would be tied up in probate court in Illinois is six months, but normally probate takes nine to twelve months, and sometimes longer.

What can you do now so that your loved ones can avoid the costly and frustrating probate process? You can attend a FREE ESTATE PLANNING SEMINAR and learn how a living trust can work for your family. A living trust can be defined in simple terms as a will substitute, one that allows your heirs to avoid meeting a probate judge. As the trustee (financial manager) of your trust, you can continue to do the same things you did before the trust existed, such as buy, sell, or give away the trusts' assets. You set up your living trust according to your desires. You are in complete control.

When you consider the cost of a will and the fees involved in probate, as compared to setting up a living trust, the trust is a much more reasonable choice. It saves not only money, but time. Your heirs will not have to wait six, nine, or twelve months to receive what you have left them.

Happy villager

Who says that Round Lake is a bad place to live. I am from Round Lake Park and just received a $250 check for my flood damage plus a $25 gift certificate from Ace Hardware. Our village cares about us! I would like to thank everyone that donated. We appreciate it.

Haunted or not?

I am calling about the haunted house on Kenwood, although I do not believe it is a haunted house. There was a fire there four or five months ago and it has been vacant ever since. It kinda does look creepy because it is all boarded up and there is a hangmen's noose hanging from the swingset. It is not a pretty sight. But, I do not believe it is haunted. If it is haunted, some paranormal researcher should check it out. It would make a great Halloween story.

Extra classes

Why are there three bilingual classes in Beach

Elementary School? I thought it was only supposed to be kindergarten and first grade. Then, students were supposed to be mainstreamed.

Work together

I am an Island Lake resident and am calling about the District 118's referendum for November. We need to work together. Our goal is the children. We need to concentrate on what is important.

It's a date!

I am calling from Grayslake to tell you that I am somewhat disappointed in your newspaper. I read in the paper that the COURAGE Group was planning a parade at 10 a.m. at CLC. But, you failed to tell readers on what day! Also, in the same paper you have an article about a fiery crash in which two people are killed. Yet, again you do not tell us when this happened. Do you folks have something against dates? Thank you.

Editorial note: Dear reader, so sorry about that. The COURAGE event will not occur until Saturday, October 30. The crash, according to that reporter occurred on Sept. 5. Thanks for bringing this to our attention!

Not a cab

Why do you think they are called bus stops?

Everyone would love to have their children picked up at their homes. It just isn't possible. I am a bus driver and I do care about the children I drop off. If it was possible, we would do it!

Lakeland

More name calling?

I beg your pardon, but the 62 percent of the population that voted against the riverboat were not bible thumpers. If they were, it was their own prerogative. It is better being a drunk.

Street holiday

I am calling from Wauconda. I am wondering if the entire street department is still on vacation. School has begun, but none of the crosswalks or other marking have been repainted. Everyone's safety is being jeopardized.

No permit necessary

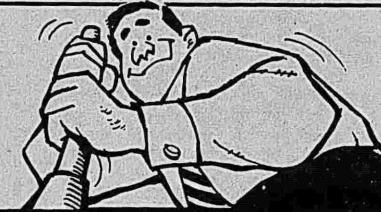

Think about it people. Why would you need a permit to have a party, "Party hostage?" Nothing like that has ever happened in Lake Villa and there are no guidelines for such a permit. So, why should they have to draw any new guidelines?

Got a raise?

How can the Round Lake superintendent get a 45 percent raise? None of the employees got raises and will (Continued on page 9)

New district to cost $25 million

by MARY FOLEY Lakeland Newspapers

Based on the results of a survey sent out to District 117 residents, a proposal to have Lake Villa Township build their own high school was presented to the Antioch Community High School Board. The new district would be comprised of students from Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, and Milburn.

The Lake Villa Township Unit School District proposal was presented by Antioch school board member Joanne Osmond and Joyce Henneberry. Osmond cited several advantages to separating the high school.

"The combined district would unite the children of Lindenhurst and Lake Villa," Osmond told the audience. According to Osmond, the emotional impact of students being sent to different high schools after spending the lower grades together is, "my motivating factor."

The proposal would certainly address the concerns about overcrowding at ACHS. According to their figures, over 55 percent of the students attending the school would be attending the proposed school. The enrollment at Antioch High School would be reduced to 900 from their current 1,750 students.

Nevertheless, the cost of this project seemed to be on the minds of the audience. First of all, a $25 million dollar bond would be needed to build the new high school. This would cost taxpayers in the Lake Villa area roughly $300 a year on a $200,000 house. In addition, another tax increase of $150 would be paid both in Lake Villa and in Antioch.

On a better note, it is possible that both Millburn and Grayslake would actually get tax relief. Lake Villa would bear the brunt of the increases.

The dollar total for Lake Villa residents is roughly $450 a year. To complicate (Continued on Page 8)

Plans in works for historic building

A local business man is in negotiations with representatives of True Value for the purchase and restoration of the True Value store on Main Street. The building, while an historical site, has been standing vacant

The Antioch Village Board approved a recommendation from the Redevelopment Commission to buy down a loan from an 8 1/2 percent market value to a 3.5 percent market value for the restoration of the old True Value building in the center of town. The building has been vacant for some time and many feel that it is an

The historic building was built in 1892 and housed the Williams Brothers store. Wally Ruppert, who applied for the loan buy down has plans to honor the Williams family by naming the building the "Williams Building," if his negotiations with True Value are successful.

Ruppert plans to create four twobedroom apartments on the second floor of the structure and a storefront on the first floor. It is hoped that the Northwest Archery Company will occupy the first floor.

"I'm excited about this," said Mayor Marilyn Shineflug. "This is a step in the right direction. If we don't do something it will crumble away. It is one of the significant historical buildings in Antioch."

The building will be restored so that the front will look purely commercial, but the apartments will have skylights to give the residential tenants plenty of light. Ruppert plans to remove the fenced in area behind the building.

The apartments will be approximately 1,000 square feet each. They will be individually heated and air-conditioned. The rent is expected to be $600 a month.

The loan buy down will cost the Tax Increment Funding Board and the Village of Antioch $26,732.42. The expected payback period is somewhere from 7 to 11 years.

Fox Lake builder to pay impact fees to Antioch

by TINA SWIECH Lakeland Newspapers

The discussion over impact fees that will go towards the library districts in the village of Fox Lake, took place amongst board members who were ultimately told by officials that the village would have to enter into a contract to make it binding.

Village Clerk Sue McNally explained to members that there are a number of new homes being built near Antioch, but it is still within the Fox Lake village.

The new homeowners, however, will be in the Antioch library district, requiring the builder of these houses to pay a $53 impact fee to the district, which will be tacked onto the regular building

According to officials, the impact fees must be done just they are with the Fox Lake district library, in that a contract with Antioch must be entered into.

Fire and Rescue Chief Stu Hoehne asked the board about the other library districts including Nippersink, which is near the Sundial Farms development on the north of town.

"They'll have to come to us, we won't go after them," said McNally.

> Due to the great success of the Antioch Community High School Science Alliance Program, the program has been awarded double the amount of funding for the 1993-94 school year, in comparison to last year. The program, under the guidance of chemistry teacher, Sharon Peterson, received the financial support of PPG Industries of Gurnee and Info Trac of Fox Lake.

A mini-grant was also awarded by the ChemWest organization, a group comprised of chemistry instructive science endeavors. Science Alliance is a "teachermentor" program in which high school students share their knowledge of science with younger students. It is a way of making learning fun for everyone involved. This academic year, the program will involve seventy five high school honor students along with several hundred students in grades four to eight.

I am getting "old, old, old," as time seems to be passing more quickly with each passing day. Only six more days of September are left to enjoy and then we will enter into October, the Halloween month. So start organizing those Halloween costumes and stocking up on trick or treat candies. Incidentally, folks, I am getting a little tired of Butterfinger candy bars. My new favorite candy bar is Kit Kats. Please keep that in mind, if a giant ghost, on a red and white bicycle comes driving up to your house yelling "Trick or Treat!"

Joy Jirik, a 12 year resident of Antioch is one of the two women candidates for Antioch Community High School Board. Jirik is a teacher of 35 years at Niles North High School and is in a position to compare school districts.

"Antioch Community High School is behind the times when compared to Niles district," explained Jirik. "We need to prepare students to be employed in all the new industry in the area."

Jirik is very concerned about school financing. "Very generally, I am for the referendum," said Jirik. "In the long run, however, I would like to find a different way to fund schools."

Jirik does not have any children, but she owns and operates Fremont Kennels on Route 173 in Antioch. She feels that her combination of both educational and local business backgrounds gives her special insights into ACHS problems.

"I have talked to a lot of people and they have told me how they feel about the issues," said Jirik. "I am also looking at whether or not ACHS needs another building."

Jirik has a degree from the University of Illinois in Chicago. Besides teaching, she also raises championship golden retrievers.

area. He was looking for some stability, something that offered jobs on a year round basis," said Morgan.

So in 1937, Pickard began manufacturing china in Antioch. "That was absolutely the best thing that ever happened to us," said Morgan. "We stayed here because of the labor force. We have highly skilled, trained artisans that work for us. Many have been with us for a long, long time."

Morgan said many Antioch families have passed on their china-making skills from one generation to the next. With the exception of just a few, most of the craftsmen at Pickard have been trained in Antioch.

Pickard's decorating foremen have always come from a trade school in Germany that specializes in training china decorators. Morgan spoke highly of current foreman Fred Menninger, who he said has a gift with training china decorators.

Pickard China has won numerous awards for its china over the years. The fine pieces made in Antioch can be found on Air Force I, at Camp David and at every U.S. Embassy across the world.

However, Pickard China has no plans for major expansion. "We're a small business and we'll always be a small business," said Morgan. "In size were not a Fortune 500 company, but in quality we will not take a backseat to anyone in the world."

Tours of Pickard China will run from 9 a.m. to noon, Oct. 2, and will accommodate up to 450 people. Visitors will be able to see forming, firing and decorating. Visitors will also be treated to coffee and refreshments while waiting.

According to Claude LeMere, community development director, the street dedication will include a special surprise.

Pete Pickard said he looks forward to the day's events. "We are honored and very pleased," he said.

Larry Peterson a nine year resident of Lindenhurst is a candidate for District 117's school board. Peterson is presently on the board, completing a one year appointment.

Peterson recently gave a speech for the referendum steering committee about ways to increase the community's understanding of the need for referendum He emphasized that communication is the key.

"Believe, understand, and communicate," said Peterson. "The biggest need of the school is for an improvement in communications between the school board and the faculty, and between the school and the community."

A handout sheet prepared by Peterson outlined some of the ways to improve communications with the community. The sheet emphasized that the communitymust understand what happened to cause the current budgetary crisis, how the administration and school handled the problem, a description of the good things being done in spite of reduced funding, and an explanation of what could happen if the funding was not increased.

Peterson, an architectural engineer at Hewitt Associates, is the manager of construction and engineering. He has two children currently attending the high school, which is one of the reasons he has decided to run for one of the four positions available.

"I have two daughters in school," explained Peterson. "I want to do the best I can for them."

Town readies for Metra

Train due to arrive in April, 1996

by TINA L. SWIECH Lakeland Newspapers

Antioch and Lake Villa, as well as surrounding area residents will soon be tooting their homs when the long awaited commuter trains come into town.

Scheduled dates of constructing are set for 1994 and 1995, and the date for the first run of the trains are April 1, 1996.

According to Metra Spokesperson Chris Knapton, the estimated cost of the commuter system is around 81.5 million.

Three "full train sets" will be needed for the two new stations, including coaches and locomotives, said Knapton, and about 50-miles of railroad tracks ending at Antioch will be upgraded by Metra to accommodate the new electrical switches that will be placed at the tracks, among other improvements.

Antioch has plans to build a station at Depot Street; and Lake Villa will construct a terminal at 149 Cedar Avenue between Cedar Lake Road and Rte. 132, next to the new village water tower. The Lake Villa site, including the parking lot, will be a total of a little over 2 acres.

The towns have agreed to construct the stations and parking lots, while Metra will pay for the platforms.

One of the most costly operations of the business will be replacing the traffic signals with electric remote control devices, Knapton explained.

The Metra spokesperson described how some people in the suburbs have recently shied away from going to the train stations due to the congestion. The new Antioch and Lake Villa stations should alleviate a lot of this, Knapton explained.

The issue of auto pollution versus trains has been brought up to Metra. The mass transit authority said it is a "serious problem," and by the fall, legislation should be passed by congress concerning the subject. Knapton said that the new railway project has been endorsed by the federal government.

"We're not anti-automobile, we're just anti-long trip," Knapton said. Benefits from the commuter stations being in community's backyards, would more than likely be generating extra sales tax revenue from stores and services near the terminals.

Antioch Rotary Club members expressed their joy over the trains coming to town. Pastor Charles "Chuck" Miller, president of the club, said that "It's a very positive step, a plus to the village."

Vice-President of the club, Rick Kuehn said that the future train is "fantastic" and makes him "elated."

"It's a must. An absolute," said Kuehn. "It's high time Antioch gets connected to the mass transit," added the vice-president.

demo sites to be constructed on the Chain and the Fox River.

The bulk of the grant check will be for public relations, used to print brochures and pamphlets showing step-by-step instructions on how to build the unique seawalls.

According to Karen Kabbes, executive director for the agency, the shoreline protection ideas are a cost-effective way of safeguarding mother nature.

The most useful sites for the erosiondefense are high boat traffic areas, explained Kabbes.

Rotary Bar-B-Que Dinner to include auction, dance

by TINA L. SWIECH Lakeland Newspapers

The Antioch Rotary Club, celebrating its 25th anniversary this month, will hold its annual Pork Chop Bar-B-Que Dinner and Auction on Oct. 2 at the St. Peter's School social hall at 900 St. Peters Road.

Tickets for the club's major fund-raiser are available at each bank in Antioch for $15 per person, which includes a built-in raffle ticket for a prize of a $500 shopping spree at the Piggly Wiggly grocery store.

The dinner begins at 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. with the silent auction to follow from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Then a dance will take place for all dinner guests.

Goods and events available for purchase will run between $20 to $2,000, said Livermore. Items for the auction may be dropped off at Johnson Jewelers at 381 Lake Street.

Dennis Johnson, auction chairperson, would like to remind the community, "With the addition of the silent auction, there is something for everyone."

According to President of the Antioch Rotary Club and Pastor Charles "Chuck" Miller, over the last 10 years, the organization has given away an estimated half million dollars to the community. The club has expectations to raise $60,000 at this year's auction/dinner.

The club that began in Antioch in 1968, composed of area business people, "invests heavily on the youth of the community," said Miller. All of the money generated from the auction, will go back into the village in one form or another.

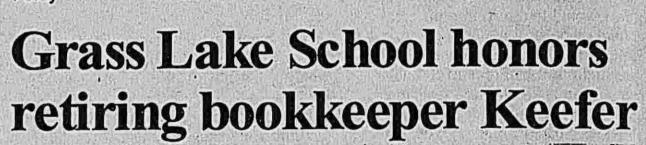

The Rotarians have been known to assist the Boy Scouts of America; the Girl Scouts; sending exchange students to other countries and bringing in foreign exchange students; and awarding scholarships to area pupils.

Last year, the club gave away a total of $13,000 in scholarships to area students, noted Miller.

The current exchange student sponsored by the club is Sarah De Boerer of Belgium.

In July, the Rotary celebrated its silver anniversary and new officers were installed.

Included in the fresh leaders are Miller as president; Rick Kuehn, vice-president; Ron Becker, secretary; and Carl McWherter, treasurer.

Retiring bookkeeper Bernie Keefer is honored by the Grass Lake School District

Superintendent Ruth Bill were on hand for the celebration.-Photo by Mary

It seemed as though all Grass Lake School parents and students turned out to honor retired bookkeeper Bernie Keefer. A crab apple tree was planted on the school grounds in her honor.

Keefer was employed at the school for over 19 years but was involved with the school through PTO participation for many more years. She was a dedicated worker, helpful to parents and staff, and only missed a few days work in all that time.

Keefer said that she is enjoying her retirement. "Old age is not as bad as they say," said Keefer jokingly. "I am enjoying retirement, but I do miss the kids."

"It is hard when valuable people leave especially when that person is a friend," said Superintendent Ruth Bill. Noting that Grass Lake School was not in any financial difficulties, Bill commented, "That fact alone is a tribute to how astute she was at keeping the books."

Even the program booklet for the ceremony and reception was dedicated to Keefer. The program was printed in purple and black, Keefer's favorite colors and was decorated with elephants, which Keefer collects.

Keefer, while watching the tree planting jokingly warned the children, "Make sure you don't throw my apples around."

After the tree planting ceremony there were several other presentations and the unveiling of the school logo. Following the program the school hosted its open

Involvement is the focus of Liz Schmehl's campaign

by MARY FOLEY Lakeland Newspapers

Liz Schmehl, candidate for Grass Lake School Board, believes that the involvement of the board, the teachers, parents, students, and the community are the key to a successful school district. And, she ought to know since she has been involved with Grass Lake School for over 25 years.

Schmehl, a school board incumbent, has been a board member since 1989. But, her involvement in the school predates that work. For the past 25 years, Schmehl, in a number of capacities, has been active in the school's PTO organization. Schmehl has been a room mother, membership chairperson, room mother co-chairperson, member of the yearbook committee, cocoordinator for the teacher assistance program, and involved in the growing up well program.

Currently, Schmehl is a camp counselor at Antioch's Camp Crayon. She also is a columnist for the Antioch News Reporter.

When asked why she wanted to run again, Schmehl replied, "I really care about Grass Lake School. At this stage of my life I have the time to give and I want to give back to my community."

Liz Schmehl

All of Schmehl's children attended Grass Lake School. Presently, she still has a sophomore in Antioch Community High School.

Schmehl feels that as an individual, she does not have the power to change anything at the school. However, she feels there are some areas of the school that could be improved.

"With the entire board working together along with the superintendent, the teachers, and the parents, changes can be made," explained Schmehl.

$25 million

"We do not know what these assets are worth," explained Osmond. "We will need funding to determine the value of the assets."

"This has never been attempted in Illinois, but nothing on the books says we can't do it," Osmond continued. "The state unit school supports districts."

The timetable for this proposal is fairly tight. In order for it to get on the ballot in March the petition must be filed by Oct. 13. Public hearings must be held by Nov. 18, and the proposal must be approved regional by. the superintendent by Dec. 2. The state superintendent must approve by Dec. 31, and the proposal must be placed on the ballot by Jan.

More importantly, if the proposal fails it cannot appear on the ballot again for two years. Some audience members felt that it was too important an issue to be properly addressed this rapidly.

Nevertheless, if this tight timetable is achieved, the ballot will include a vote concerning the formation of the new school district, including the tax rates, boundaries, and the effective date. The referendum to build the new high school would also appear on that ballot. The election of new school board members may also appear.

There are several unresolved issues, however.

Incentive calculations must be determined, assets and liabilities must be divided, and there must be interim funding for the education and transportation of students while the new school is being built.

Area residents will have an opportunity to learn boating safety basics at a free Department of Conservation Boating Safety course scheduled on Saturday, Oct. 2 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Deerfield High School, 1959 Deerfield Rd., Deerfield, according to Leonard March, coordinating instructor for the class.

State legislation, which

Boating safety course set became effective in 1978, requires that persons 12 through 17 years old have a boating safety certificate before they can operate a motor-driven boat without adult supervision.

Further information about the course is available by contacting the coordinating instructor at 831-2423. To register for the course call 432-6510. Registration fee is $5.

Overtaxed

I am a first time caller from Antioch. I am also disgusted with the increase in my taxes. My taxes went up over 50 percent. After checking everything out I was astounded to discover that our new assessor is a school teacher. Shouldn't we have known that we do not need a referendum here if our taxes are going to go up that high?

This is in response to "So there." The response "some studies suggest" has always been a quick phrase to support biased views based with no facts. I support your journey to free thought, it looks like a long one.

How many people are upset about the cable being off. three days in a row in Round Lake Beach? I finally got through only to be told that Commonwealth Edison was responsible. Even the telephone was off for a while. Is this because of the widening of Cedar Lake Road?

Happy phone customer

I want to thank the Illinois Bell/Ameritech Telephone Company for being so responsive to my family during a recent crisis. An outside line was damaged the very day we had a death in the family. The telephone repair people managed to "patch" my phone in the evening and there were three trucks out in front fixing the line at 9 a.m. At a time when we really needed a phone, they were right on the job. Thank you.

Powerless again

I just moved to Antioch from Chicago a year ago. The power has been out more times in the year that we have been here than our 10 years in Chicago. There were no storms to explain this and I want to know what the heck is going on.

Editorial note: Dear Reader, at the moment there is a controversy concerning the power needs of the area. Commonwealth Edison wishes to put in 138 kilowatt overhead line while the Citizens Against Unsafe Electricity (CAUSE) organization maintains there is no need. You will have to make up your own mind on this issue. Currently, the issue is being heard by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Smoke free

I just want to thank Mr. Baker who advertises his hypnosis treatment in the newspaper. I went to him and it has been seven weeks since I had a cigarette. Because of him my life is smoke free. It was well worth it.

Curb your cat

Grayslake does have a leash law for both dogs and cats. Cats must remain on your property or on a leash. Although it is hard to control cats. If they are trapped, they will not be picked up by the conservation department, but by animal control. If the owner is

Right time to buy land

Nov. 2 referendum affords county voters opportunity to expand Forest Preserve Dist.

With good reason, Commissioner Larry Leafblad of the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. says that some day, the only open space in the county will be Forest Preserve lands.

This bit of hyperbole can be excused as part of the rhetoric of a campaign to

Marsh at crossroads

Dropping plans for housing development would be in public interest.

The Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. and the Village of Round Lake Heights are at a critical crossroads over the future of Fairfield Marsh, an environmental jewel and an ecosystem of open water and wetlands that impacts mightily on a vast area of northwest Lake County.

Fairfield Marsh is on the district's approved list of land acquisition. Village officials favor turning the marsh and surrounding land over to a development for construction of homes. Caught in the middle are the property owner and public interest.

The property owner wants to dispose of the land and is willing to sell to the Forest Preserve Dist. The transaction is being blocked by a majority of village officials who hold to the belief that the marsh is desirable for development.

While it is a natural tendency for smaller municipalities to want to become bigger, what the Round Lake area with a school district near bankruptcy doesn't need is another housing development adding to enrollment pressures and expanding the gap between what a new home produces in real estate taxes and what it costs to educate a child.

Round Lake Heights would do well to drop development plans for the Fairfield Marsh area, seek other avenues for growth and development and support purchase of significant wetlands by the Forest Preserve Dist. This is one time where both the best interest of the property owner and citizens can be served by public acquisition.

promote passage of a $30 million referendum to raise funds for acquisition of more open space and develop existing facilities for the county's rapidly growing population.

But Leafblad's assertion calls attention to the dwindling supply of lands available for preservation and the fact that the Nov. 2 referendum offers an excellent opportunity for electors to take steps to insure future generations with open lands for public enjoyment.

The district will be able to issue bonds at some of the most advantageous rates in years. For all practical purposes, the district has depleted funds available for more land and there still are many worthwhile parcels available for acquisition. Forest Preserve commissioners also are being spurred by the knowledge of a survey indicating solid public support for protecting more natural areas and enhancing existing facilities with more hiking and biking trails.

Commissioners have devised a plan where two-thirds of the bond proceeds will go for land preservation with approximately $10 million going for development. This program is estimated to cost voters only an additional $6.40 on a home evaluated for tax purposes at $150,000.

There will be other tax increase propositions on the Nov. 2 ballot in a number of Lake County communities, so voters will be doing some picking and choosing along with soul searching. Taxpayers will get an excellent return on their investment of a few additional dollars in taxes for purchase of more park lands and improving existing facilities. We heartily endorse the Nov. 2 Forest Preserve Dist. referendum.

Sindles building team for clash with Grinnell

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspaper column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

Ed Sindles is taking bows for the brain trust he is putting together for his bid to knock out incumbent Sheriff Clint Grinnell in the Republican primary next spring.

The campaign for Sindles, who supervises the jail in Babcox Center, Waukegan, and a long-time employee of the Lake County Sheriff's office, is being directed by John Flynn and Molly Larson as co-chairs. Flynn, a resident of Gurnee, is a retired state trooper who Lennan was a six-term president of the sheriff's unit of Fraternal Order of Police, including years during some rough and tumble salary bargaining sessions.

Gentlemen, choose your weapons. This one should be a beaut. The Grinnell-Sindles battle is sure to be interesting.

Odd couple---County Building watchers are wondering what is being cooked up when Republican king maker Jack Martin and County Board Rep. David Stollman (D-Buffalo Grove) get together? They don't seem to have much in common other than the fact that leaders (Martin) need followers (Stollman).

Consolidation---Cuba Township Highway Com. Kermit Smiddy has some interesting thoughts about reducing the cost of local government. For one thing, various governmental units in the Barrington area could contract with Cuba Township to provide road maintenance, according to Smiddy, thereby reducing costly duplication. Natch!

Letters to the Editor

Let schools catch up

Editor:

One of these days the news media and city, county, town and villages boards are going to wake up. They are going to realize that housing developments do not pay enough in taxes to support fire, police, schools, sewer and water.

Industry pays enough in taxes to support services as well as providing employment and tax money for schools.

Taxes have gotten to the point people cannot stand any more. Can you? I suggest we stop this endless development to give us a chance to get caught up with what we now owe. Once we have our schools in shape then we can resume development.

Glad to hear the decision has been made to retain Jim Busch as Fox Lake Police Chief. Gender questions spice work place

by BILL SCHROEDER

A fascinating drama unfolds daily in the work place when you look at the battle of the sexes in the context of gender differences.

Dr. Kathleen V. Shea, a clinical psychologist, drives this point home in a hurry describing how men and women approach their workaday roles from vastly different perspectives.

Try these Shea observations for size:
Women managing younger males is one of the "hot issues" in business today.
Girls ought to play football so they know how to be team players when they get out in the business world. Wow!

Shea spoke to members of the Lake
Suburban Chapter of Women in Management at their fall season kick off dinner at Country Squire. The Libertyville clinician didn't pull any punches as she spelled out why women have difficulties realizing goals and aims in the male-dominated business world. A sprinkling of men in the audience enjoyed Dr. Shea's good humor, but they also were sobered by the realization that working women are relentless in their efforts to compete—and succeed.

Speaking of humor, Shea opened up with some jokes to illustrate her point that women should learn to use humor in the work place. Using humor helps communications and breaks down barriers, she stated. Women admire the male bonding techniques of kidding and teasing, Shea remarked.

OK, doctor. How are men and women different on the job? Shea said men view their work role with an eye toward entitlement and aggression. Females approach job fulfillment from a viewpoint of dependency and accommodation. So there are differences, big differences.

Back to the hot issue of female business owners and executives managing younger males: Dr. Shea said female managers have to be aware of the pitfall of accommodating the unmet dependency requirements of younger males. Sort of the "mom" syndrome. Dr. Shea deals with complicated, but fascinating subjects. And back to girls playing football. "In football, you learn about the value of team play and achieving alliances." You find out the value of having a person on team because they're the best running back, "even though you don't like them." Dr. Shea didn't reveal whether she's a Bears fan.

Regardless of whether or not you agree with Dr. Shea's data or observations, women in the work place are here to stay, but the gender difference is a minefield, if not a chasm. Watch your step.

DOUBLE DEBUT---When a local athlete crashes the world of big time professional sports, it's worth mentioning. When two high school classmates make their pro debuts at the same time, it's a memorable achievement. That's the case of two former Carmel High stars, Class of '88. Jeff Zgonina won a spot with the Pittsburgh Steelers and Scott Stahoviak is finishing the season at third base for the Minneapolis Twins.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY---Erika Tarin made her grandparents proud and her parents relieved with a perfect performance at her baptism. Not a peep of displeasure or a wrinkled brow. She even managed a bit of a smile for one moment during all the fuss.

Dismantling of military compromises U.S. role

by RON WEEKS

Through all the smoke and haze of the budget process, it is increasingly clear that national defense is going to be savaged by the Clinton administration.

The protective firewalls that resulted from the Bush 1990 budget compromise no longer keep the defense budget from being cannibalized to pay for pork barrel projects.

And in the wake of the narrow vote on his budget package, President Clinton promises additional billions in cuts, probably half of which will come from defense. In almost the same breath, Clinton speaks of the needs to maintain America's global leadership and continues to pledge our supremacy in preserving freedom, security and free markets.

The American people and much of the rest of the world have the impression that the United States, as the world's only remaining superpower, will continue to play an active role in international matters. Yet, the defense budgets we are seeing and the lessened military capabilities resulting therefrom will not permit us to sustain that role.

We are in serious danger of promising far more than we are able to deliver-a situation which has potentially disastrous consequences for our friends and for our long-term credibility and influence. It is indeed dangerous to deceive ourselves and the world on such a critical issue.

If, in fact, we elect to adopt a policy of neo-isolationism, then we should do so after open debate and clear consensus. Our allies and any potential enemies should know what we will and what we won't do on the international scene. Too many young people have died from the consequences of earlier international miscalcula-

Not only are the peace and stability of the world critically related to American active presence in Europe, in the Middle East and in the Pacific, but our influence and economic well-being are likewise critically dependent on fulfilling our responsibilities in the world.

It just isn't smart to promise America's international involvement while dismantling our military capabilities. But whatever we do, we should not have a policy which we simply cannot execute.

Too much is sacrificed on this altar of expedience-lives, fortune and national itonor to name a few.

One other issue I'd like to comment on is the riverboat. The residents of the Chain O' Lakes area have spoken and the majority do not want a riverboat on the Chain. Logically speaking, when the Chain is already extremely crowded, how could the idea of adding a riverboat be possible? One other point, people may want to go to Las Vegas or visit gambler riverboats, but don't necessarily want one in "their own backyard."

Reimbursements questioned Editor:

Mayor Lumpkins of Round Lake Heights stated that everytime the members of the past administration went anywhere they went on the village, and that his administration was not going to do this. This is simply not true. The present administration under Mr. Lumpkins attended the newly-elected officials seminar which the village paid for.

Regarding the previous administration, Mayor Morris attended numerous meetings and events representing the village of Round Lake Heights, and never was reimbursed for either the travel to and from the event or the cost involved in attending these events. As clerk, I did not receive any reimbursement for phone calls, copying expenses or travel done on behalf of the village of Round Lake Heights.

I suggest to Mr. Lumpkins that he should spend less time blaming everything on the past administration and work on his own administration as he is going to have his own future problems.

Beware school 'bloc' heads

Parents are beginning to see the kind of verbal gridlock and useless politicking that comes of having "blocs" running for the Woodland School Board.

Frustrated from a loss in town elections, a Skalla "bloc" of candidates seeks to politicize our school board to the detriment of our children. Their comments and letters ooze politics; planning boards, zoning boards, village boards, but are woefully devoid of what I call the three "Cs", children, curriculum and community. To paraphrase from the last presidential election, "It's the kids, stupid."

I don't mean to be dismissive of Mr. Skalla and his "bloc." They raise some criticisms of the current board that are right on target, builder/developer negotiations for example. But too often they choose minor issues and don't think of our children. Remember the mayoral campaign? The Skallas called Woodland a "warehouse." They hadn't been to the campus; they certainly hadn't talked to the teachers or parents. The latest example of speak now, think later is the flap over the blinds for the children. I would challenge Mr. Skalla to have been in any classroom during the latest heat wave. Classroom temperatures soared and meaningful instruction dipped. What would he suggest, taping paper on the windows?

The district and its children can ill-afford to elect a slate of bloc-heads of either side, either status-quo or political pro. The only "blocs" Woodland parents should vote for in this election are the "building blocks" of a better education for their children and independent candidates, like myself, who support them.

known, they will receive a fine. That is the best way to handle the situation.

No place to skate

I am 17 years-old. I try to go roller-blading at 10 p.m. with a friend but the police will not leave us alone. They keep pulling us over and threatening to give us $75 tickets. This is while there are people speeding past us in their cars. That's nonsense.

Check the tapes

The problem between Semmerling and Hanson isn't that they aren't getting along, but that one of them is not getting along. Anyone attending these meetings and able to get a copy of the tapes made of the meetings will find that Semmerling is accusatory towards the board. He does not want to get along. This man has realized too much power.

No more poor

I read about the Mundelein church that welcomed the family of 17. Since they have little more than the clothes on their backs, they must be found a place to live, jobs, food, and taught English. I further read this is only one of 500 families arriving in Chicago. What about the people in this country? The article asked for donations of television, etc... I know a widow that just received a television and her kids had to do without bikes and had very little food. There are many needy families here already.

Opposes salaries

Give me a break. The Antioch School superintendent first opens up the teacher's contract so they can receive a raise on top of their raise. Then he has the nerve to float another referendum? This is supposedly for school technology. Who is he kidding? Over 70 percent of the budget goes to teachers salaries. I am tired of the kids being used for their greed.

Editorial note: Dear reader, technically the referendum drive is coming from the citizens of District 117, not the school board or the superintendent.

Mother of a sophomore

This is message for the Lakeland Newspaper. I really enjoy your paper and I love Lipservice. I want to commend you on your sports pages particularly putting in all of the teams and a synopsis of the action. Keep up the good work. The sophomores have even been included this time. I hope this is a weekly thing.

Slow down

I live in West Miltmore and we are tired of fearing for our lives from the speeding parents and employees of the Red Balloon Preschool. The speed limit on our road is 25 not 35, 40 or even 45 mph. Shame on all of you.

Such a shame

I am very upset about how Mayor Lumpkins treats the senior trustees on the board. Apparently their usefulness extended only to helping him get elected. Now he has just pushed them under the carpet because he cannot get rid of them. Such a shame. Thank you.

Wood thief

I wish I had a neighbor like yours that even got the license number. If the creep does not return your wood, I hope the police have been given the plate number. Not only the cost of wood, but the labor for cutting and stacking can be expensive. Be sure you get a quote from a professional before telling the police the amount of your loss. It may even be worth to turn it into your insurance company.

Belt the buses

Gavin School buses pack children three to a seat also. But, the children do not have seat belts. However, the bus driver does! How do they rate a belt? Our kids, which are the most precious thing we have don't get one. Can they do this? Is there any agency out there that can help?

Wants sidewalks

I am an Oakwood Knolls resident and am waiting for an accident to happen. People use the subdivision streets like an autobahn. Police refuse to patrol for speeders during the prime-time. If Oakwood Knolls cannot afford a police officer, we should consider sidewalks.

Just cancel

Cable companies have adjusted their rates upward, not downward. Basic cable and expanded basic have gone up. That's were the charges are made. To avoid higher cable rates we should just cancel them. I think I am going to.

Narrow vision?

It looks like the Antioch Village Board have hired dreamers to think of ways of spending our money. They are talking about narrowing Route 83. We do not need it narrowed and we do not want it narrowed. Traffic moves through town just fine. Leave it that way.

Fire protection concerns

Regarding the annexation of Greater Round Lake Fire Protection District, if you annex us in, we will just deannex and go to Lake Villa Fire Department District. Think twice before you do it. The people are happy with Lake Villa and we will fight.

Food drive

Wilmot Speedway will be accepting donations of canned goods every Saturday night during the remainder of the season for the Midwest flood victims. People are encouraged to bring in just one can each night. We will make sure they get passed on.

Metra's chairman updates community on extension

by TINA L. SWIECH Lakeland Newspapers

Communities who are waiting patiently for their turn to ride the train, need not wait much longer. At least not for a few more years, anyhow.

Developments of the long awaited commuter railway system coming to the area were disclosed at the Antioch Rotary Club luncheon held at Hogan's Antioch Country Club.

The report was made by Chairman of Metra and McHenry County resident, Attorney Jeffrey Ladd.

Ladd told the crowd that was comprised of area business people as well as several officials that the project is scheduled for operation by April 1, 1996, and will cost an estimated 81.5 million.

According to Chris Knapton, spokesperson for Metra, "There hasn't been a new start up since 1928," when the North Shore Railroad was constructed to Mundelein, and was then abandon in 1968.

The upgrades on the existing Wisconsin Central freight system tracks will be executed as part of the FAST (future agenda for suburban transportation) plan, a joint effort between Metra and on the railway system will be a connection in Franklin Park, where 200 feet of track, the Wisconsin Central and the Milwaukee District West Line, needs to be joined, connecting Elgin and Chicago, according to Knapton.

Knapton said that Metra is thrilled about the project. During Ladd's presentation to the Antioch Rotarians, the Metra chairman said that Robert Carr. chairman of the Transportation Sub Committee and House Committee of Appropriations, stated that the Wisconsin Central renovation "is the best project he's seen overall."

Knapton said that it's high time the northern communities are getting their commuter train. For the past several years, Antioch and Lake Villa task forces have been working with Metra, explained Knapton. "The communities really want it," said the spokesperson.

The stations as well as the parking lots will be constructed by the towns, according to Knapton, and Metra will install all of the platforms for the commuters to stand on while waiting for the trains.

Fifty-miles of railroad track ending at Antioch will be upgraded by Metra to accommodate the new electrical switches that will be placed at the tracks, among other improvements.

Quig's popularity continues to grow

During World War II Bob Quig lived in Chicago and wanted out of the city. He and his father Henry found an apple orchard out in the country on Rte. 83 in Mundelein and formed a partnership. Their sales area at that time was an old table. Later they sold apples from a 1929 truck.

The younger Quig decided he needed to learn more about growing apples and studied agriculture at the University of Illinois, graduating in 1951.

By then the business had graduated to a moveable stand offering cider and honey as well as apples. A high wind blew down the stand in 1953, so the two Quigs decided they needed a permanent structure. A 24-foot-by-36-foot building was constructed of cement blocks.

One day Bob Quig sold a bag of Red Delicious apples to a young lady who caught his fancy. Marion Quig joined the family and the business.

As the business grew, the Quig family began to make additions. A cooler room held apples for Brookfield Zoo. Early in 1964 they started making apple donuts. They began to carry cheese, and then sausage.

"A awful lot of people said 'Can you make me a sandwich?"" Bob recalled. "So we began to think about getting a restaurant license to sell sandwiches. So much is involved in that, we decided to go all the way with a breakfast and lunch restaurant."

The eatery opened in April 1985 with seating for 60. As the business grew, so did the Quig family. The children came into the business. Daughter Pam Berek oversees the country store; son Alan manages the restaurant and orchard. Another son, Robert, helps out during apple season. Pam's husband Tom is on hand wherever he is needed. Henry Quig passed away in 1959 but Mildred Quig still keeps an eye on things.

The restaurant became a popular place.

"At one point we had as many as 60 people waiting 30 to 45 minutes on Sundays," says Bob. "We felt we were justified in expanding and we needed more storage space. As long as we were doing that, we might as well build another restaurant."

Construction began May 10 and the new facility welcomed its first guests a couple of months ago with room for more than 100. More parking was recently added.

"We have a lot of local people for breakfast, and business people for lunch.

There are a lot of new people moving into the area. The kind of customers we have are way above average.

"It's almost like family," he said.
"People meet each other here."

Quig wants to keep the 'country' feeling.

"I don't like glitzy atmosphere," he said.

Abbott provides internships for Inroads intern program

Thirty-one minority students worked as interns at Abbott Laboratories this summer as part of the Inroads Minority Internship Program. In addition, Abbott recently made a $10,000 grant to Inroads to support the organization's per-college recruiting activities.

Inroads, a national program, places minority youth in business and industry and prepares them for corporate and community leadership. The program also gives them year-round training for the corporate world through workshops, academic support and advising.

Local Lake County interns include North Chicago's Elmer Martinez and Xavier Swopes and Waukegan's Michael Bailey. Sponsoring companies, such as Abbott, make a four or five year commitment to give the intern paid summer employment that provides handson experience. Abbott volunteers serve as mentors, making themselves available to confer with students.

The summer, 12 interns worked at Abbott's headquarters in Lake County.

"The support and advise I received from my mentors and co-workers helped me shape a career path," said K.A. "Tony" Wicks, an accounting major at the University of Illinois in Champaign.

Many Inroads interns have entered full-time positions at Abbott after graduation. Lasaundra Scott, of Waukegan, who was an Abbott intern for four years, joined the company's highly competitive Financial Professional Development Program after graduation from the UofI in 1992.

"The networking aspect has been wonderful, and the opportunity to work in different areas of the company has been invaluable. The fast track program I am in will give me an edge as I advance in corporate America," said Scott.

Abbott, which has participated in Inroads for nine years, also provides educational assistance and internships to students through other programs, including scholarships for minorities and

Lake County sees growth in corporate build-to-suits

Lake County has seen thirty-one corporate build-to-suits constructed in the past 18 months, according to a real estate survey by Frain Camins & Swartchild. The build-to-suits average 94,200 s.f. in size and total 2,920,000 s.f. of new construction.

According to John Hauser, an industrial real estate specialist with FC&S who works exclusively in Lake County, the most growth occurred in Vernon Hills where build-to-suit construction within the eighteen month period totaled 872,000 square feet. "Companies are choosing Lake County because there are still terrific land sites available which have good value and toll road access. Because the real estate taxes are typically less than Cook County, economics are continuing to drive deals and we expect this trend to continue."

Frain Camins and Swartchild compiles bi-annual statistics on completed build-to-suits as well as available land and industrial sites throughout metropolitan Chicago.

One of Chicago's top real estate firms. FC&S offers full service capabilities nationally and internationally through ON-COR International, a real estate consortium owned by 35 independent firms who are leaders in over 161 major markets worldwide.

Kemper-Kemper Corp., the Long Grove-based securities and insurance firm, has been in the news a lot lately. After declining earnings the last four years, culminating in a net loss for 1992, the company began selling off some of its insurance units. The securities brokerage unit however, providing 30 percent of revenues, is not for sale. The changes appear to be positive for the company as 1993 earning per share are estimated at $2.75, while 1994 EPS is estimated at $3.50 per share.

In current news, Kemper has entered into an asset management joint venture with India's 20th Century Finance Corp.

In light of increased projected earnings, Kemper, which is trading with a dividend of $0.92 per share, has a current yield of 2.3 percent. Standard & Poor's rates Kemper Corp. (KEM) as a buy.

Commonwealth Edison-The Illinois electric utility, which has had some tough times in the past, seems to have straightened out their problems. After a few years of paying out more in dividends than they were earning, Commonwealth Edison has cut their dividend to $1.60 per share. At the current price, CWE has a yield of 5.2 percent, with its dividend in better proportion to earnings.

In 1992 the fuel mix was 83 percent nuclear, 15 percent coal, 1 percent oil and 1 percent natural gas.

Commonwealth Edison is seen as a major turnaround story and rated a Buy. The key reasons to buy the stock now: The possibility of a major regulatory settlement announcement boosting the stock near term; a safe dividend yield of 5.2 percent with the prospect for strong growth in the future; stable and improving finances with free cash flow; recent improvement in operating cost controls and nuclear ratings; and finally, possible settlement of regulatory and legal issues for CWE could limit right-offs, raise revenues and boost the stock.

In conclusion, CWE is recommended as a Buy based on its current dividend and strong short and long term outlook.

Careline helps families seeking care for elderly

When a family is looking for a house to buy, the Multiple Listing Service can give them access to many area Realtors with housing information.

When that family needs to find day care for children or daytime supervision for an elderly relative, they now have a

by SUZIE REED Lakeland Newspapers

resource for that information as well.

The Children and Aged Resource Exchange [C.A.R.E.] has a "Careline" with listings of care facilities for both young children and older adults. This network includes centers in all 192 suburbs in the Chicagoland area and provides hundreds of doctors, real estate agencies and human resource departments with access to the listing.

A toll-free, 24-hour C.A.R.E.LINE provides this information to families, with attention to location and range of services. Specific information can be mailed or faxed to the caller.

"We've received hundreds of calls," said C.A.R.E. president Jeff Hensel. "A lot of the inquiries from Lake County have been for elder care. There's a lot of retirement development happening there. As the industry matures our service will be much more in demand."

Hensel has had a great response to his service. Many providers must work through a maze of bureaucracy before they can join the network. He has been picking up new ones every day.

"People at the public level in administration, admissions and marketing find it to be an exceptional way to reach the public," he said. "The demand is certainly there. This is an idea whose time has come."

Lake County facilities include the Children's World Learning Centers in Buffalo Grove and Vernon Hills and the Hillcrest Nursing Center in Round Lake Beach.

"We're ahead of where I thought we'd be at this point but we have a long way to go," said Hensel. "There are certain areas where we need to increase the activity and representation."

The Careline number is 1-800-CARE-240. The phone is answered seven days week, 24 hours a day, by live operators.

Lake County YMCAs offer a variety of swimming programs for residents of all ages.—Photos by Mary Phillips

YMCA offers fitness, improved health

With the increase in stress and more people eating on the run, exercise and fitness is becoming less of a trend and more of a necessity.

With exercise comes the choice and the type of exercise. Cross training is a popular technique used to help prevent injuries and prolong life. No organization typifies a commitment to healthy living more than the YMCA.

In Lake County, residents can choose between the Hastings Lake YMCA in Lake Villa and the Waukegan YMCA. Both offer a variety of activities to help people stay fit and injury free.

by ALEC JUNGE

Hastings Lake will be expanding its present facilities to provide weight resistance machines and cardiovascular equipment. Its anticipated opening is Oct. 11, according to Director Margaret Sexton.

"It gives people a great opportunity to cross train. They're not just in the water; they get an opportunity for a better all around workout and can prevent more injuries with cross training," Sexton said.

Sexton said working out with weights helped her overcome some injuries.

"I taught aerobics and I had bad ankles and hurt my shoulder and my back. I started working out with the weights three times a week and in1 and a1/2 years I have never been hurt," Sexton said.

Working on weights and swimming provides more tone and an evenly balanced workout because a wider range of muscles are being used, Sexton added.

The new equipment is part of a 1000-square-foot expansion. The equipment is comprised of 11 Cybex weight resistant machines, similar to Nautilus equipment. The equipment includes a leg curl, arm curl, rowing machine, a lat raise and a tricep extension. Also four cardiovascular machines will be added, two Stairmasters and two Lifecycles.

The Lifecycles were described by Sexton as recumbent because they offer the similar exercise as the Stairmaster but protect the lower back area.

Besides the new exercise equipment, Hastings Lake has an indoor pool with a variety of programs from babies to adults.

There are programs for toddlers from 6 to 36 months.

From age 3 to 5, kids are separated in four groups from beginning to advanced. There are private and semi-private lessons available for adults. Swimming programs are pro-beginning to advanced. There are private and semi-private lessons available for adults. Swimming programs are provided for seniors. Assisting the seniors is a chair lift which helps ease them in and out of the water for those have a difficult time with stairs.

Other programs the Hastings Lake provides are first aid training, aerobics, hydroslimnastics, and aquatic fitness.

The new excerise area will have windows for the family members to watch their kids when they are in the pool.

The Waukegan YMCA offers similar equipment. There is a pool, four basketball hoops, an indoor and outdoor running track, swimming pool and free weights.

One of the more unique programs is a stroke swimming program. "There is a stroke swimming program for adults working on rehabilitation," said Julie Sgarlata, of Waukegan YMCA.

Along with a full-range of exercise programs, Waukegan YMCA offers child care and day care programs.

Glen and Katle Fredrickson go for a horse ride at Hastings Lake YMCA.

Mechanical techniques in farming have greatly expanded over the past few decades. A powered threshing demonstration will entertain and thrill children and adults at Farm Heritage Tractor and Steam Show.

Tractor, steam show at Lake County Museum

Demonstrations on farm activities dating back to the 1900s such as steam-powered threshing, quilting, rag rug weaving, rope making and spinning are only a part of the many activities during a two-day Farm Heritage Tractor and Steam Show co-sponsored by the Lake County Forest Preserve and the Lake County Heritage Assn.

The show will recreate rural farm life with handson farm activities on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 25 and 26, from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Lake County Museum.

The show's main attraction are steam powered threshing demonstrations that will entertain and educate children and adults about the farming techniques once used in Illinois and other mid-western states. Threshing demonstration times are 12:30 and 2:30 p.m. both days.

Other scheduled activities are magic shows by Ventriloquist David Snetsinger at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m., and a hay baling demonstration at 3:30 p.m. A children's pedal tractor pull competition is set for 1 p.m., Saturday and 1:30 p.m., Sunday. On Sunday, a clog dance demonstration will begin at 2 p.m.

show. The Lake County

Farm Heritage Assn. will provide horse drawn wagon rides for 10 cents.

The Lake County Museum is located in the Lakewood Forest Preserve near Wauconda, on Rte. 176. Admission is $4 for adults and $2 for students and children ages 4 to 12.

Cast delivers gusto performance in 'Forum' Music On Stage has milied the treasures of Broadway every year since 1957 and presented Midwest audiences with the best of their musical finds.

Over the years, the tiny company has presented a litany of well-known favorites, from "South Pacific" and "Cabaret" to "Fiddler on the Roof" and "Hello, Dolly!" This year, they are reprising "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," which they first staged in 1969. Burt Shevelove and Larry Gelbart's musical burlesque, with music and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim, is directed at Palatine's Cutting Hall by Frank DePaul, who has a nice flair for campy

An energetic, high-spirited cast delivers with gusto the tale of Pseudolus, a conniving freedom-seeking slave to a Roman family, and Hero, his young master, who promises to grant liberty to Pseudolus if he can get him together with Philia, a beautiful girl whom Hero has seen from his bedroom

Loyal readers (despite more than 20 years of critiquing the local theater scene) such judgment in this instance comes not from an unbiased observer. Daughter Elaine Witom, a June graduate from Illinois State Univ. (B.S. in acting) and already a veteran of school, church and park district theatricals, plays the fair

Elaine Witom

John Wiseman gives a commendable performance in the demanding role of Pseudolus; John Noble is a dashing Hero, and Bill Glynn, a lawyer in "real life," gives pleasure as Senex, the daffy father. Frank Roberts is solid as Marcus Lycus, buyer and seller of courtesans, while Susan Bieschke somewhat overplays the shrewish Domina. But Ty Mohr steals the show at times as the oft-hysterical Hysterium.

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT NORTH STAR TRAVEL

If you can't bear to leave that furry little four footed member of the family at home, take him along on your next flight. But there are a few things to remember to make his trip comfortable.

If your puppy is less than eight weeks old, find a sitter. A plane ride is a little too much excitement for him to handle.

Stop by your local pet shop and pick up a cage suitable for air travel. It should be large enough so Fido can stand, turn around and lie down comfortably. The inside should be free of protrusions. There should be handles for lifting and the cage should be leakproof, well ventilated on opposite sides, labeled "Live Animals" and have an arrow indicating the upright position.

The cage should be marked with the owner's name, address and telephone. Your pet should wear identification collars with the same information.

A nice long walk immediately before and after the trip is good advice for both you and your puppy.

If your pet must travel during the hot summer months, try and get an evening flight. In fact, most airlines will not accept pets if the temperature is more than 85 degrees. The cargo compartment of the plane is temperature controlled. It's the possible delay in the baggage area that could be the problem.

Some airlines will feed and water your pet upon request, but opinions differ on whether this is a good idea. Check with your vet.

You're going to have to see the vet anyhow, since you will need a health certificate issued within 30 days of travel.

If Hawaii is your destination, Fido again must stay at home unless he wants to spend 120 days in quarantine.

Unfortunately, your pet is not considered free baggage. His "ticket" will cost you about $50 each

MYOB

I am a 32 year-old married woman with one child. I moved into Round Lake Park. I thought I was moving into a neighborhood of my contemporaries, but instead it is a neighborhood of children. The nosiness and gossip has gotten out of hand. Everyone should tend to their own affairs. Grow up people.

Okay

I am calling about the police report in Fox Lake and Ingleside areas. I think you should include the number of calls responded to maybe even the nature of the call. We are undermanned, underpaid, and the paper makes it appear as though we answer very few calls. I am not a local policeman but, at least consider the service that is rendered. My name is TJ from Fox Lake.

Man trap

I live in Grayslake and I leave my kitty outside. It does not kill anything and I would like to tell these people if they touch my cat I will catch them!

Editorial note: Dear readers, this is a reminder that we will not print repeat messages from individual callers. One message per week per person, PLEASE!

Hey turkey who sent in the location of the haunted house, Fairlawn and Kenwood are parallel to each other and four blocks apart. That is not a very good location. How about getting it to at least a block?

No holiday

I would like to see school open all year long. The Wauconda Schools are a multimillion dollar business. What other business can shut down three months out of the year?

Editorial note: Dear readers, we have received several complaints about specific teachers at particular schools. This is not the proper forum to address these complaints. Anything of this nature should be brought to the attention of the school's principal or school board. Sorry we cannot help.

Kitty protection

My name is Kimberly. I must say that the cats of Grayslake should stay inside. It is much too dangerous to allow felines outside their protective walls. You are proof of that! However, if you think that the county will come to your aid, you have not done your homework. The department of conservation does not handle domestic animals, only wild animals. Furthermore, Lake County Animal Control will charge the kitty posse a $35 deposit for each trap. Oh, and caller, next time you threaten to take an animals life, just remember, you have been warned!

Selective recycling

This is a recycling joke! The Mundelein recycling program is simply ridiculous. Plastic number one and number two are allowed. But, dimples in either of these plastics is not allowed. For example, plastic film cases. Newspapers are allowed, but recyclable grocery bags are not allowed. The worst part is that I am so environmentally conscious that my family collects more recyclables than the supplied bin will hold. I began to use a 33 gallon container along with the bin supplied, and I was told they would not be picked up!

Where is Steve from All Star Gymnastics? Where are you employed? Please call Lipservice and let us know.

Dining alone

There is a local restaurant that I would like to patronize, but they refuse to seat singles. What kind of a thing is that? It really makes me mad.

Still fighting?

Once again, it amazes me that you fear us as you do. Show your face, speak your peace, or shut your mouth. Get a life of your own. Remember, you shot the first bullet, the prejudgment. I can't believe you would say we are unapproachable over requesting to offer to help fix a fence.

I think it is great that Lake Villa wants its own high school. But, I don't agree that we should all have to contribute.

Older people have fat lingering in blood

It seems that everything slows down as we get older, and new findings on how we handle dietary fat bear this out.

A study at ARS' Human Nutrition Research Center on Aging at Tufts showed that older people have significantly more fat circulating in their blood after a fat-rich meal than younger people do. Since elevated triglycerides—as fats are called—contribute to the risk of hear disease, the finding has important implications.

A group of researchers at the center found that older people have higher blood levels of vitamin A than their younger counterparts. Since the vitamin is fat-soluble, it gets packaged together with triglycerides in intestinal cells before entering the blood and stays with the fat-rich particles in circulation. So they reasoned they could use vitamin A as a market to gauge how fast the body cleared dietary fats from the blood by measuring the vitamin's clearance rate.

Eighteen men and women—half under 30 years old and the other half over 60—ate a meal of soybean oil containing a large dose of retinyl ester—a form of vitamin A—after an overnight fast as a marker. Each then donated a pint of plasma which was reinjected two days later after another overnight fat. By withdrawing blood samples before and at regular intervals after the plasma infusion, the researchers tracked the disappearance of infused vitamin A and related that to triglyceride levels throughout the same period.

"Vitamin A remained in the blood of the over-60 group almost twice as long as it did in that of the under-30 group," says Ernst J. Schaefer, a medical doctor who oversees lipid metabolism research at the center. "We think the difference is due to less active liver receptors," he says, referring to the proteins on the surface of liver cells that usher these fat-rich particles inside.

Dentists to patients: always inform medication use

Dental patients should always inform their dentists of all medications they are taking before receiving dental treatment. Older individuals are encouraged to bring their medications with them so that the dentist can accurately record the name and dosage of each drug taken.

A recent survey in the Journal of the American Dental Association found that medication use is increasing as the population ages, and significant numbers of patients are taking medications that have potential for adverse dental effects.

The JADA article,
"Documenting Medication Use in Adult Dental Patients: 1987-1991," reported on a medication use survey of a large dental population in the United States. Results of the survey show that 40 percent of patients acknowledged medication

There is a greater prevalence of medication use among the elderly, and 77 to 94 percent of these medications have important implications for oral health and dental treatment. Multiple drug use is six times more common in people over 80 years of age than those younger than 33 because chronic diseases manifest themselves in the later decades of life.

Among the most common categories of medications taken by dental patients are cardiovascular drugs, hormones, analgesics and central nervous system drugs. The study found that women take medications more often than men, accounting for 68.9 percent of all drug consumption reported in the survey.

In addition to the patient's overall health, dentists are concerned with any dentally-related side effects of medications. One common adverse dental affect of drugs is zerostomia, or dry mouth, which can cause rampant cavities in teeth and difficulty for wearers of dental appliances.

Another problem for older patients is the prescription of pain medications with codeine after extraction of teeth or a root canal. These medications can cause confusion and dizziness in the elderly which can lead to falls and fractures. Drugs such as ibuprofen (Motrin or Advil) are better for older adults because they don't cause these side effects. However, these medications can't be used for older adults with a history of peptic ulcer because ibuprofen can irritate the lining of the stomach.

"Dentists are trained to understand the potential side effects and interactions of drugs," says Mary Starsiak, DDS, a general practitioner on Chicago's northwest side. "A dentist must be informed of a patient's medical and medication history since both can affect dental treatment."

The trend of increasing drug use likely will continue as greater numbers of patients will live longer. Alerting the dentist to these conditions is important for optimal dental care.

Dental society recommends screenings

Dentists are on the front lines of oral cancer detection, spotting early changes in their patients' oral tissues that could indicate cancer.

More than 30,000 people are diagnosed with oral cancer in the United States each year, and 8,000 die from this disease annually. The greatest hope in oral cancer prevention and cure lies in early detection, which improves a patient's chances of survival markedly.

According to the Chicago Dental Society, the following conditions necessitate a visit to the dentist for a thorough head and neck examination.

A sore on the lips or inside of the mouth that does not heal within two to three weeks.
White, scaly patches inside the Swelling or lumps in the mouth, neck, lips or tongue.

• Hoarseness.

Repeated bleeding in the mouth.

Dentists are in an advantageous position to detect oral cancer, especially conditions that might become cancerous because they see dental patients annually or biannually for routine dental examinations. Dentists who see patients on a regular basis can spot changes early. "We can often detect which of our patients are smokers because of changes that occur in the mouth. We regularly see oral problems that are a direct result of smoking," says Daniel Uditsky, DDS, a general practitioner in Schaumburg.

"Statistics show that cigarette smokers and heavy drinkers face four times the risk of death from oral cancer than non-smokers."

Habitual use of smokeless tobacco has been strongly linked to oral cancer. A five-fold increase in the incidence of oral cancer is predicted within the next 30 to 40 years, due to the enormous increase in smokeless tobacco consumption among pre-teens and teens in recent years.

"If a dentist notices any change in the tissues that may indicate some abnormality, samples of the tissue in question will be taken for examination by a pathologist," explains Dr. Uditsky. "Lifestyle contributes to oral cancer and conditions that might become cancerous can sometimes be managed with a simple change in personal habits."

Regular dental examinations can insure good oral health of both the teeth and the surrounding tis-

Epidemiological studies by U.S. Department of Agriculture scienfists and others have found evidence that a higher intake of vitamin C helps protect against developing cataracts.

Now, the findings are even more compelling, with direct evidence that higher intakes of this antioxidant vitamin lead to higher levels in the eyes' lenses, where cataracts develop, and in the fluid that nourishes the lens.

It was reported in an issue of "Current Eye Research" that 42 patients scheduled for removal of cataract-clouded lenses, had agreed to participate in the USDA study, reported. Half of them received an extra two grams of vitamin C (ascorbic acid) for a few weeks before surgery, while the other half got a placebo.

"We saw significant differences between the two groups for total ascorbic acid in their blood plasma, lenses and aqueous humor fluid," says Allen Taylor, the director of studies on relationships between nutrition and vision at the Human Nutrition Research Center on Aging at Tufts Univ., Boston, which is funded by the USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

He explains that the group receiving extra vitamin C averaged 49 percent more ascorbic acid in their lenses and 32 percent more in aqueous humor fluid, which bathes and nourishes the lens. And their blood plasma was at least 89 percent higher in the vitamin group.

Taylor doesn't rec-people's dietary intake. And it emphasizes the need to learn how increasing vitamin C intake or plasma levels may protect people against cataracts.

It also begins to answer the question of whether or not plasma levels of vitamin C can be used to predict eye lens or aqueous humor levels of the vitamin.

HE DIVING HE WELL THE FEET OF THE FEET OF

To the living, I am gone. To the sorrowful, I will never return. To the angry, I was cheated. But to the happy, I am at peace and to the faithful I have never left I cannot be seen, but I can be heard. So as you stand upon a shore gazing at a beautiful sea Remember Me.

As you look in awe at a mighty forest and its grand majesty-Remember Me.

As you look upon a flower and admire its simplicity - Remember Me. Remember me in your heart, your thoughts, and your memories of the times we loved, the times we cried, the times we fought, the times we laughed. For if you always think of me, I will have never gone.

How To Survive The Job Search By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: I have worked for my company for four years and for as long as I have been here the corporate handbook states our vacation policy to be two weeks paid vacation after the first year. A new employee started in the same department as I (as well as in the same capacity) just over a year ago. This person just came back from a two week vacation and has been talking about a trip she is taking with her husband again in November for an additional week. Shouldn't the vacation policy be the same for all employees in the same capacity? Other employees are talking. Should I express my opinion to my supervisor as to the level of fairness? I'm fuming over this! Thank you for your help. F.D. - Libertville Q: Dear...Search: I have worked for my company for four F.D. - Libertyville

A: Dear F.D. Before you do a slow burn, re-think your concern. The key words here are "paid vacation". There is a concern. The key words here are "paid vacation". There is a strong possibility the employee upon hire may have made arrangements with management prior to the acceptance of the position for that particular week off. In which case I want you to further keep in mind that the possibility is very strong that this November trip is going without pay. Obviously this person is unaware that she is causing coworkers to talk about this by discussing this matter openly. Should you express your opinion to your supervisor? If you have a company handbook and the policy is stated clearly...let it be.

9: Dear...Search: I have been with the same company for the past 15 years and am about to design a resume as I have been seriously considering moving on. I have received many promotions over the years and would like to know if it is necessary for me to list the company name and dates of employment next to every new title I received. I have received seven new positions with them over this period of time. Someone told me that I should just list the company name and dates of employment as 1978-present and then just list from start to current, my title and duties. Do you feel that this is appropriate? Thanks for your column, it is very informative, J.L. - Gumee

A: Dear J.L. I agree. To list the company name over and over may appear as though you need things to fill up the page with. At a glance it may make you look as you have had several employers. When done with the format suggested to you, you should have a clean outstanding resume, easy to read and at a glance making it obvious that you have been a dedicated employee of 15 years. Good luck!

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gumee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 5101 Washington St.,

In the box score, the safeties are recorded the same way - SIs for both Dave Winfield and Scott Stahoviak in the ninth inning of the Twins-A's game at the Metrodome.

The hits were significant for both the

Lakeland Newspapers

20-year veteran and the rookie in the 5-4 Twins 12-inning win. The biggest difference was the two were 2,995 hits apart. Both came off one of baseball's best in the bullpen, Dennis Eckersley.

"It has been very easy fitting in. I can go up to any of my teammates and ask them about a particular pitcher," Stahoviak said.

Stahoviak's hit came moments after the hoopla subsided Thursday night, and drove Winfield home for the tying run. There was no massive celebration after the 1-2 slider, for Stahoviak still had a job to doget hit No. 5.

"It was a big thrill coming off Eckersley," Stahoviak said of his sharp single to left.

While the former Carmel, College of Lake County and Creighton University standout has fit in with his teammates since being called up Sept. 9, he has found it to be tough going facing the likes of the Eck.

"I have not hit as well as I would have liked, but no one does well right away. There is a period of failure," Stahoviak said.

The lanky third baseman has made the adjustment to the carpet of the Metrodome.

"I think it is easier than grass. The ball gets to you quicker," Stahoviak, a one-time pitcher, said.

Stahoviak fielded a sharp grounder early in the game but did not throw. He made two clean assists in the ninth inning.

Stahoviak had surgery May 15 for an elbow problem but batted .310 since returning and won the player-of-the-month award as a Nashville Xpress player in August.

"I want to get my feet wet and see if I can make the team for next year," Stahoviak said.

Stahoviak said he does not have any plans to play winter or instructional ball. He stands a strong chance of playing baseball indoors again after the Twinkies break after Spring Break, 1994.

These are heady times for the Stahoviak family. Scott started playing baseball before pre-school in Grayslake, at a time when Winfield was breaking into the show with the San Diego Padres.

"It was a great thrill for us. I can't put it into words," Ed Stahoviak, Scott's father, remarked. Ed made the trip to Minneapolis to see the weekend games and his son's name being shown in the same scoreboard as hit No. 3,000. Stahoviak has left "quite a few" tickets for family and friends who flew or made the eight-hour drive.

He has seen his son, wearing No. 37, play third base for the Twins.

"I thought I would do it, but I did not know enough about it," Scott said of major-league dreams.

As for Winfield, the hit on a 1-2 slider off Eckersley, took the pressure off his back. He had struckout and hit into a double play the first two times up. In the seventh, he reached on a seemingly roofhigh popup for a single, then the big one in the ninth,

"I'm really happy. Ozzie Smith came by and Goose Gossage was here. At the beginning of the year, I was asked when the best time it could come. I said in September against Toronto. I wish I could have done it two or three weeks ago," Winfield said.

Winfield said persistence in the 20 years was the key as many great hitters never reached 3.000.

Winfield has time for the Scott Stahoviaks of baseball.

"I like to show them I am a regular player. Everybody struggles. That is why this game is unique," Winfield said.

And that gives the folks at Stahoviak's former hunting ground - Woodland School in Gages Lake, plenty to banter about when he pays his next visit home.

Amazingly, there was once a football team that after playing its first five games one season still had neither a win OR a loss!... Wofford College of South Carolina opened the 1948 season by playing five straight tie games!... That's an all-time record in college football.

Can you imagine a football player scoring 100 points himself in one football game?... Did you know that such a feat was once accomplished?... Back in 1916, Leo Schlick of St. Viator College of Illinois scored 100 points against Lane College of Illinois... Schlick scored 12 touchdowns and kicked 28 extra points in that game, which his team won 205-0.

CLC volleyball aims high in the Skyway

by MARK ABRAHAM Lakeland Newspapers

As conference play is just about to begin, the College of Lake County women's volleyball team is looking to be at the top of the standings come November, and nowhere else.

In her fourth campaign as head volleyball coach, Sue Garcia isn't looking to take a back seat to perennial powerhouses McHenry and Elgin.

"We hope to do real well," said Garcia. "We're coming together. The five freshman from last season have all stepped up, and all five are starters."

As for last year, the Lancers finished fourth in the Skyway Conference, with a 29-20-7 record. Garcia notes a difference between this team and last year's version.

"We have players who have found a passion for the game, they come to play," said Garcia. "They might make a mistake, but they put it behind them and get back to thinking about the game."

After a 4-0 performance at last weekend's Olive Harvey tournament, the Lancers are proving just how good they are. Their overall record is now 15-5-1, with sophomores Kim Stepp, Diane Babski and Kathie Filkey leading the way.

Last weekend, Stepp was 40 of 41 serving, with 31 points, while Babski served up four aces and had 17 kills. Filkey added 18 kills as the Lancers lost only one game the entire tournament.

The Lancers also received help from freshman Lisa Bochenek and Natalie Ward, who will be looked to a key players for next season. Assistant coach Bob Taterka is also helping the club along as he works through his first year with the Lancers.

Sequoits look to run past Warhawks after big win

Antioch is hoping the momentum gained by a powerful running game lcd by Mike Stephenson and Josh Johnston can put a winning streak together now that the losing streak is history.

The Sequoits were led by Johnston's 101 yards and 113 by Stephenson, who scored three touchdowns in a 27-7 win over Warren.

"It was encouraging. It should give them a lift after two close losses. The kids always played hard and never quit," Antioch Coach Del Pechauer said.

Antioch improved to 1-2 overall and broke the 11streak. Antioch looks to make it two straight when it hosts North Chicago at 1 p.m. Sept. 25. Warren, 2-1, 1-1, is at defending champ

Lake Forest.

"We have a monumental task," Warren Coach Reggie Hughes said of the Scouts.

Stephenson started the scoring on a cool Friday in Gurnee with a 22-yard run. "We were able to get some nice angles," Pechauer said. The Antioch coach said both backs are good blockers. They are aided by a powerful offensive line.

"They controlled both sides of the ball. Our defensive ends and linebackers have to get better. We did not make good adjustments," Hughes said.

"Ken Dazzio, Derek Lang and Mike Sheay all put a game regular season loss lot of pressure on their quarterback (Tony Largo)," Pechauer said.

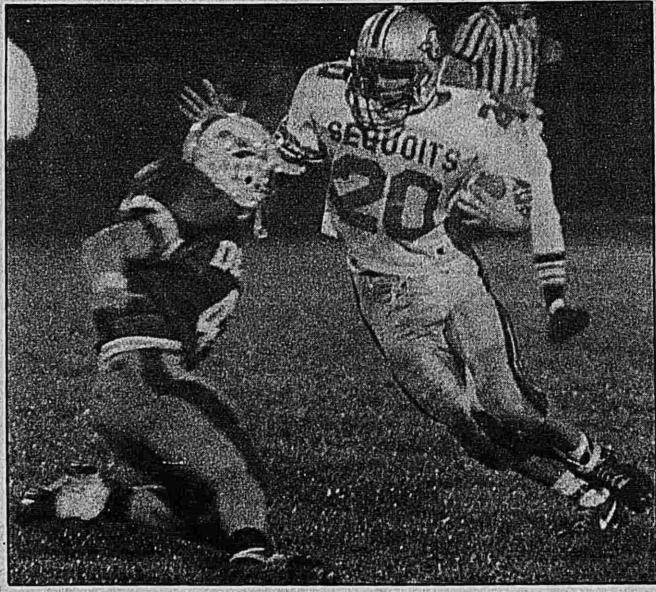

> Warren's score came on a big play as Zach Florio scored on a 64-yard jaunt in the second quarter for only a 12-7 Antioch lead at halftime. Florio led the Warren ground game with 125 yards. "He was our go-to guy. We wanted to go to Tim (Marabella) more, but we were being dominated at the line," Hughes said.

"The bright spot is the loss showed us an important lesson. It means we have to get down to work better during the week," Hughes said.

After turning away Warren bids, Stephenson scored on a four-yard run, Johnston a 16-yard run and Stephenson scored from one yard out.

The Sequoits and Coach Pechauer are not taking the Warhawks lightly. North Chicago dented the win column with a 2-0 win over Mundelein.

ACHS soccer team improves record

by THOMAS STEVENS Lakeland Newspapers

The Antioch Sequoit varsity soccer team improved its overall record to 7-3-1 as they beat Loves-3-0, Park-Harlem Barrington 1-0 and Belvidere 6-1 in games last week. Antioch also lost to Glenbrook South 2-1.

Jeremy Schultz returned - to the line-up and scored the game's first goal, which provided a lift and a spark to the Sequoit team, said head coach Brad Wilson, Schultz also assisted in the only goal scored in Barrington.

Another outstanding performance came from Marc Gantar, who scored his three goals against one assist, 22 interceptions, Belvidere.

Dave Johnson had 13 steals for the week, 62

ACHS volleyball building toward regionals after win

by THOMAS STEVENS Lakeland Newspapers

Antioch Volleyball team head coach Gwen Varney is quite pleased with the way her team is performing of late.

Why not, with the Sequoits winning the Stevenson Invitational last week, the

'I'm very pleased with our team.

-Gwen Varney

Lady Sequoits are now 12-2 on the season and a perfect 2-0 in the conference.

"I'm very pleased with our team and their performance so far," said Varney. "We have played very well."

Varney labels the team's athleticism, depth and team play as the strengths of the 1993 roster.

"I would like to see our team, however, get ahead of our opponents and beat them early," said Varney. "We have a habit of letting teams score on us early and then we have to battle back to win."

Though this team has no true "superstar" on it, Varney believes that this team is better than others she has coached at Antioch.

"This team is stronger than others we have had here, even though we have no star player this year," said Varney.

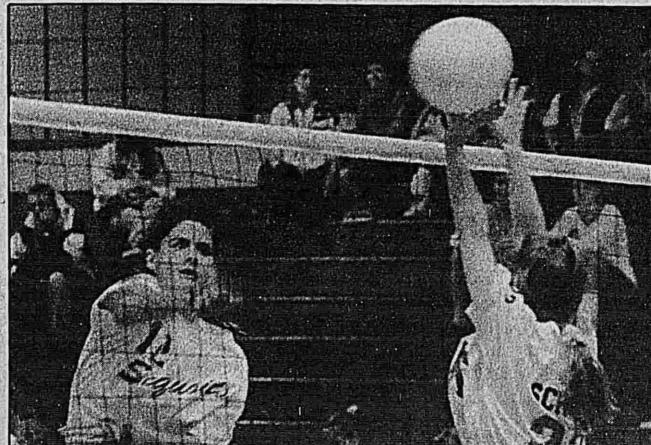

But what she does have is several very talented young women, who play very well together.

Varney has been impressed with the performances of seniors Kim Wirsing and Maline Gooch and juniors Katy Harney and Carrie Curtis.

"Everyone had been helping us win," said Varney. "It has been a balanced attack."

The Stevenson win, however, will not go to team's head, Varney said.

"Yes, it is a confidence builder, but it was just another match," said Varney. "We will be a stronger team because we won, but it just was another win on the way to regionals."

Lindenhurst boys soccer teams have a good weekend

The Lindenhurst Boys traveling soccer teams played seven games in the Northern Illinois Soccer League last weekend and collected five victories.

The Royal Eagle U-10 team has a soccer double-header starting with a game against the Darien Dynamo, who entered the game undefeated and unscored upon. The Dynamo scored first and controlled the tempo early, but the tide turned when Eagles goalkeeper Erik Carlberg stopped a Darien penalty kick. The Royal Eagles took command in the second half by scoring three unanswered goal, two from Adam Planko and one from Tom Woodruff. Darien closed to within one goal but Ryan Jordan scored from long distance to seal the 4-2 victory. The Eagles then traveled to Rockford where won 3-1 on goals by Planko, Ryan Meyers, and Woodruff.

The Turbos U-11 team split two. games against very tough opponents, falling just short to the Sports Club of Frankfort 2-1. The Turbos defeated St. Charles 2-1 on goals by Jeff Prorock and Adam Finney. The defensive unit rose to the occasion and stopped the St. Charles team from scoring in the second half.

The U-12 Lightning team remained undefeated in their NISL season after a 4-0 over the Rock Run Express. Coach Ron Placko gave credit to his entire defense after a strong performance that kept the ball away from the Lindenhurst net the entire game. Goals were scored by Ryan Hlinak, Mark Sanderson, Quinn Gooch, and Keli Owens.

The Eagles U-13 team registered a trilling 1-0 shutout over Glen Ellen. head coach Ron Wetzel described the Eagles' defense as "absolutely terrific." While the defense was unyielding, Juan Alvaraz controlled the tempo of the game and Alex Berger scored the only goal the Eagles needed.

The U-14 Lazers played an away game against the Downers Grove Roadrunners and lost 2-0 as several injuries reduced the Lazers attack.

The Royal Eagles U-10 team plays their home games on Sundays at Forest View Park, while the Turbos, Lightning, Eagles, and Lazers play their games at Polley Field.

Antioch golfer aces par-3

by THOMAS STEVENS Lakeland Newspapers

It may only happen once in a lifetime, maybe never at all, but Antioch native Bill Geyer joined a very elite group on Sept. 19 when he drained his tee shot on Antioch Golf Club's 18th hole for his first ever hole in one.

"I couldn't believe it," said Geyer, who was playing with a friend and has several witnesses see his incredible shot. "It was not like you would imagine. There was no jumping up and down, no screaming. I just couldn't believe it fell in."

Geyer, using Spaulding Top-Flight ball and a Ben Hogan driver, tackled the 193-yard parthree with professional-like savvy.

"I knew with the wind in our face, that I would need the driver to reach the green,' said Geyer. "But, I never thought I would make a hole-in-one."

Spectators in the Antioch Golf Club parking lot said they saw the ball land five yard short of the green and roll in the cup.

"I thought the ball traveled past the green," said Geyer of his shot. "Neither I or my partner thought the ball went in. It wasn't until we reached the green that the people in the lot told me what happened."

The Baxter employee said he will be afraid to run out in a storm from now

"They say you have a better chance to be struck by lightning than hole an ace," said Geyer.

Lindenhurst girls post more wins

The Lindenhurst soccer club's girl's traveling U-19 Engima team posted a 10-1 win over the Schaumburg Cougars. Leading the scoring was Kelly Landgren with four goals. One goal each was scored by Sarah Ayre, Chenoa Chebny, Jaimee Rinehart, Angel Giangiorgi, Kristen Smith and Krista Wievel. Giangiorgi and Landgren were minding the nets. The Enigma is 2-0 this season, scoring 18 goals in two games, while allowing only one goal.

At Polley Field, the U-15 Blitz and Park Ridge White team battled for 80 minutes with the Blitz taking the victory 2-1. Stacie Morley scored the first goal of the game, but minutes later Park Ridge tied it. From that point the Blitz defense (Tami Wright, Jessica Haynes, Stacey Alberts, Nicki Kral, Jill Denoma and Kris Julian) shut down the Park Ridge offense. Carrie Gofron scored the winning goal. Allison Earl had an outstanding game in goal. Assists on the goals were given to Kris Julian and Jessica Haynes. The Blitz is 2-0 in season play.

Also at Polley Field, the U-13 Stars remained undefeated by winning 3-1 over Orland Park. The Stars are now 2-0. A dominating defense was the key to victory with Orland Park crossing the midfield stripe only three times. Lindenhurst goals were scored by Samie Korbal, Mandy Fasano and Amy Carlberg.

The U-113 Power traveled to Glenview to play the Flyers and took a tough loss 4-1. The Power is 1-1 through two weeks of play.

The U-11 Lightning tied their games making their season record 1-0-1.

Autumn leaves soon to fire up Lake County

Lake County will soon be ablaze with the reds, yellows and oranges of fall colors, and the Lake County Forest Preserves offer the best spots for color watching.

'Sugar maples can turn the brightest orange, and with all the maples along the Des Plaines River there should be quite a show," said Nan Buckardt, Environmental Education Manager for the Lake County Forest Preserves.

Leaves contain several colors of pigments, but in spring and summer green chlorophyll masks the other colors. As chlorophyll breaks down in autumn, yellow xanthopylls, orange carotenes and red, blue and purple anthocyanins are revealed.

Weather conditions during the next month directly affect the display of colors. Ideal conditions for maples and many other trees include plenty of sunshine, with nighttime temperatures near 40 degrees.

One of the best spots for leaf watchers to enjoy fall foliage is along the Des Plaines River Trail. The nine-mile southern section of the trail winds through Old School Forest Preserve near Lincolnshire and Half Day Forest Preserve near Vernon Hills. The 15-mile northern section of the Des Plaines River Trail begins at Van Patten Woods Forest Preserve near Wadsworth and runs. Lake County has to offer through Wadsworth Savanna Forest Preserve and the Wetlands Demonstration Project.

Nature programs in September and October offer several opportunities to enjoy fall colors. Join the Monday Movers this fall for a fast-paced. naturalist-guided walk through a different forest preserve each week and enjoy beautiful fall colors throughout Lake County as you stay in shape. On Sunday, Oct. 3, forest preserve naturalists will be on hand for horsedrawn hayrides, at McDonald Woods Forest Preserve near Lindenhurst. See some of the brightest fall colors on a seven-mile. naturalist-guided fall color bike ride along the Des Plaines River Trail beginning at Half Day Forest Peserve near Vernon Hills, on Saturday, Oct. 9.

On Sunday, Oct. 17,

Searle and the Friends of Ryerson Woods will present AutumnFest at Ryerson Woods near Deerfield. Spend a fall afternoon with family and friends playing games outside, feeding the farm animals, taking a guided color walk or wagon ride. Enjoy arts and crafts demonstrations and music.

For more information on fall color watching in your Lake County Forest Preserves, fall nature programs or for a free copy of the Forest Preserve newsletter, Horizons, call 948-7750.

Save those garden flowers for winter use

With garden flowers at their peak of performance, now is the time to bring them indoors and use them to brighten a room with colorful bouquets.

Garden flowers can also be cut now and prepared so they can brighten rooms during those dull days of winter. Simple drying techniques will allow you to take what you are growing in the garden, harvest from roadsides and turn them into spots of winter indoor color.

There are basically three methods for drying flowers: air drying, using a drying agent, or using the microwave oven.

The fastest method is to use the microwave. In the microwave, a drying agent is used to absorb the moisture and support the flowers or foliage while drying. Silica sand and silica gel are two types of drying agents available from most craft stores. A combination that you can make yourself consists of equal parts of borax and cornmeal. Fine kitty litter can also be used. Use microwave safe containers of any size large enough to hold the drying agent and flowers.

To dry the flowers using the microwave technique, select flowers at the peak of bloom and foliage that is crisp and clean. Harvest when the material is dry from dew or rain. Spread about a half inch of drying agent in the bottom of the container. Cut off the stem to about a half inch and stand the flowers straight up in the container. It is best if flowers of similar texture and density are dried together. Sprinkle the drying agent on top and around the flowers until it is completely covered. Tap the container occasionally to get the agent worked into all areas of the flower. Some flowers are best when placed face up and others face down in the drying agent.

Petunia and similar flowers dry best face down. Zinnias and marigolds work best face up so the drying agent can be thoroughly worked between the petals. Set the container and about two cups of water in the microwave and select the appropriate "cooking" time.

"Cooking" times varies from 10 seconds to three minutes or more depending on the type of flower or foliage. Use a mediumhigh temperature setting. After the "cooking" process is complete, the flowers must be left in the drying agent from eight to 36 hours. Again, this depends on the type of flower. Because this is not an exact science, you will have to adjust times based on the type of flower and do a litter experimenting. Flowers with thin petals such as petunia, pansy, and daisy "cook" for about 30 to 50 seconds and stand for eight hours. Zinnias, marigolds, carnations, and mums "cook" for about 1 1/2minutes and stand for 10 hours. Flowers with very thick petals and thick foliage may require two minutes of "cooking" time. Very large mums, dahlias and asters may need up to three minutes. Microwave drying is not perfect. There are some drawbacks. If flowers are "cooked" at too high a long, the moisture that is released into the drying agent may cause it to cake around the flower. Some adjusting may be necessary. After drying, the flowers and foliage can be attached to florist wire stems.

temperature or for too

The technique for drying flowers with a drying agent is nearly the same as the microwave method. The main differences are the length of time and flower preparation. Any of the drying agents mentioned for microwave drying work well. Drying time depends on the size and type of flower but will generally take from one to three weeks or longer. Use any type container that is deep enough to hold the agent and the flowers. Shoe boxes and gift boxes work well. Remove most of the stem as it will be replaced with florist wire. Fill the container with about half an inch of agent and set the flowers into the material. Slowly add more drying agent until the flower is covered. Test for dryness by remov- they dry.

ing the agent from the top petals. Dry petals feel like paper. If not completely dry, cover and leave to dry a few more days. Drying will tend to alter the color of flowers slightly. Dark colors turn darker and whites turn off-white. Yellows usually stay about the same.

Air drying is the simplest method. Merely hang small bunches of flowers upside down in a dry, dark, well ventilated place. Darkness helps the flowers retain color as

fall Foliage

Fall is time for lawn care

While many Lake county homeowners beieve the time for tending o the lawn is early spring, orticulturists actually ecommend this be done n the fall. It's during the utumn months that root vstems and nutrient reerves, which will mainain the lawn over the winter and through the ollowing summer, are produced.

Preparing the soil The first step in planting and/or spot patching a lawn is to prepare the soil. Using a rootiller, or garden shovel for smaller projects, oosen the soil to a depth of two to three inches. If your soil is compacted or clayey, blend in a product such as Reveille® "Pelletized" Gypsum to help break up and aerate the mix. This will allow water and air to better penetrate the soil, which will result in increased root growth. Gypsum is also ideal for reducing harmful salt levels in your soil and restoring optimum growing conditions.

As the final step, the soil should be raked smooth to remove debris such as old grass, weeds and unwanted stones. To create good drainage, slightly grade the soil so that it slopes away from the house.

Liming and fertilizing

Every lawn needs a proper balance of nutrients to ensure healthy growth; the most important of which are nitrogen, phosphorous, and potassium. Spreading an allpurpose fertilizer will provide the soil with these important nutrients, so germinating seeds can grow strong and healthy. Some soils, however, may not react immediately to the fertilizer as a result of imbalanced pH; irregular levels of acidity or alkalinity in the soil. This is a common problem and can be corrected easily with an application of limestone. Once pH levels are balanced, fertilizers can work longer and more efficiently.

Spreading the seeds

As a general rule, approximately three pounds of grass seeds are needed for every 1,000 square feet of lawn, although amounts may vary slightly according to seed type. Seeds should be broadcast with a lawn spreader to ensure even distribution. Because young grass plants will need space to develop roots and leaves, it is essential not to spread seeds too thickly; if too close together, they may choke each other off and fade quickly.

After spreading the seeds, rake them gently with the back of a rake, just enough to cover them lightly with soil. Be sure not to cover the seeds completely; they must have some light, as well as oxygen, moisture and warmth, in order to germinate.

Once the lawn has been seeded and rolled, apply a complete fertilizer. It is best to use a fertilizer recommended for new lawns, in the amount suggested on the bag. Grass seeds themselves contain only enough nutrients to begin the growing process, so it's necessary to add a nutrient-rich soil supplement:

Follow-up care

Keep the newly seeded are moist for approximately two weeks, or until the grass is well established. Sprinklers should be set so that they cover the entire planted area without having to be moved; this will avoid any disruption of seed development. It is best to avoid light sprinklings; water should penetrate the soil to a depth of several

Quig's is worth waiting for, but now you don't have to

Hungry customers at Quig's Orchard Restaurant will discover they no longer have to wait long for a table. Since the new addition opened a couple of months ago there's a lot more breathing room. The addition of another parking lot solved another problem.

The business has been around since 1947, growing from an orchard and roadside store selling apples from a truck to a full service restaurant seating more than 100. Owned by Bob and Marion Quig, the enterprise is still watched over by Grandma Mildred Quig. Daughter Pam Berek is on hand in this family endeavor

The restaurant is a popular spot on the weekends, but for breakfast in a relaxed atmosphere during the week, there's nothing like Quig's.

"We serve a fantastic hash brown let," said Berek. "If you're really hunthe rolled apple pancakes."

If you think oatmeal is boring, you haven't had Quig's Apple Cinnamon Oatmeal made from an old family recipe. Cooked with apple cider and full of apple chunks and cinnamon and garnished, if you wish, with brown sugar and pecans, it's like having dessert for breakfast.

Daily breakfast and lunch specials are offered by chef Tony Gutierrez. Sometimes he may feature a pork chop dinner complete with mashed potatoes or a grilled chicken salad. Those with smaller appetites may opt for a cup of soup with a half sandwich, or a chef's salad.

All the soups, from the baked onion to the chili, are made with the freshest ingredients. Gutierrez is very particular about the quality of his food, and has brought Quig's a lot of customers with those high standards.

"We're lucky to have him," said Berek.

After finishing a delicious meal, diners frequently linger in the bakery and the country store where they can find everything from cheese and sausage to soup mixes and the famous apple cider. A number of novelty and gift items are available as well as functional and decorative kitchen supplies.

"We carry high quality gift items that people can't get in other places," Berek

Apple picking season has begun; look for Jonathans after Sept. 23, Red Delicious on Sept. 30 and Golden Delicious and Rome Beauty on Oct. 7. Call ahead for times and availability.

Quig's Orchard Restaurant, 1/4 mile north of Midlothian Rd. on Rte. 83 in Mundelein, is open from 7 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday, and will be open Columbus Day, Oct. 11. Hours for the Bakery and Country Store are 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. The Greenhouse and Gift Shop are open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information call 566-4520.

Discover premier dining at Parkway Restaurant

Parkway Restaurant has been the premier place to dine in the north suburban area for almost 50 years.

Located on Rte. 120 just east of Rte. 41, it was always the place local politicos chose to meet for lunch, says owner Peter Paulson, who currently runs the family business with his wife Jane and his son Martin.

"A lot of business deals have been consummated at the Parkway," he said.

After being closed for lunch for three months during the summer, the Parkway began welcoming luncheon guests again Sept. 21.

"Our menu is basically All-American," said Paulson. "We're noted for our great beef prime rib and we have an extensive seafood section:"

The menu offers tempting treats such as the popular filet mignon priced at $15.95 and Lake Superior Whitefish at $12,95.

Oyster lovers will revel in baked Oysters Lorenzo, a creation featuring fresh oysters topped with a creamy mushroom sauce with crabmeat, then broiled to a golden brown with a sprinkling of Parmesan cheese, all for $12.95.

Other selections include Rack of Lamb with Madeira Sauce, Crispy Roast Duck, Fresh Walleye Pike, Fresh Atlantic Salmon and Yellow Fin Tuna.

"We've always been renowned for our home made pies," said Paulson.

Choices include rhubarb and lemon meringue. The restaurant is also noted for its Red Layer Cake.

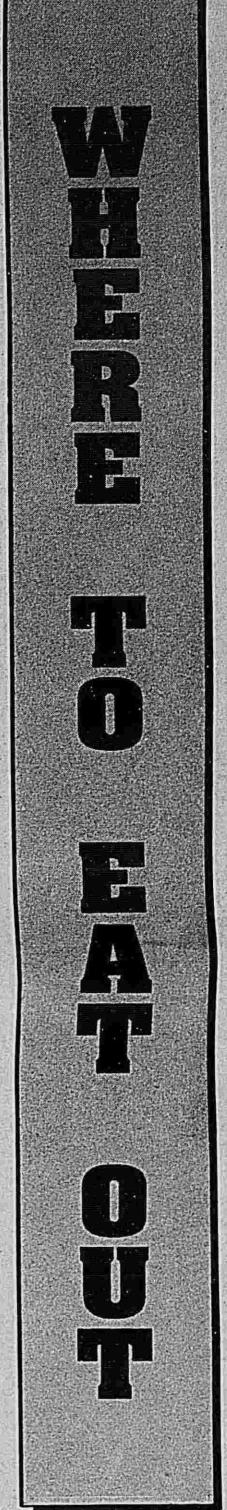

The Parkway has always been a popular place for private parties in one of the three dining rooms. The Rosewood, decorated in rich paneling with mauve accents, seats 90. The Executive Dining Room is furnished with a private bar for up to 50 diners. Smaller rooms are also available for wedding rehearsal dinners or family events.

Close to the Lake County Courthouse at 3035 Belvidere St., the Parkway is easily accessible from any direction.

Newer residents from western Lake County are encouraged to discover the warm and friendly atmosphere of this family-run business.

"If you haven't found the Parkway," says Paulson, "you really deserve to find out why it's been there for 50 years."

Lunchtime hours are Tuesday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Dinner is served Monday through Saturday from 4 to 9 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 9 p.m.
